Short Description

Make life simple and buy a set of kettlebells from the outset - rather than trying to build them up over time. Useful for a wide range of strength and functional exercises, they should be one of the mainstays of any gym - whether home or commercial. These are competition kettlebells - with large squared off handles and flat base.

Why Choose These Competition Kettlebells?

With their stainless steel handle you get superior grip - even without chalk. Hammer Strength have colour-coded them to make identification easy, and if you're colour blind, then check out the clear debossed weight numbers on the face. Manufactured to extremely high standards, these will last a lifetime.
